MERIDIAN ARTISTS

The Legion

Pilot

"Hot Tub Mold Machine"

Written by

Craig Brown

43 Britain Street, Suite A02 • Toronto, Ontario M5A 1R7
416.961.2777 • meridianartists.com

1 EXT. LEGION 2729 - EVENING 1

Establishing shot of Legion 2729 - a small, nondescript building nestled in-between other nondescript buildings with FOR SALE and FOR RENT signs in their windows.

A large marquee letter box hangs beside the front door, proudly advertising Legion membership.

JOIN THE LEGION TODAY

DON'T MAKE US BEG!

2 INT. LEGION HALL - SAME 2

The Legion's main room is cozy yet slightly rundown.

Mismatched tables and chairs fill the space, while military memorabilia decorates the smoke stained walls.

An empty fireplace sits with an artistic "paper fire" inside.

A dilapidated L-shaped bar runs along the side of the room.

KAYLA, 20s (fun loving, free-spirit), pulling items and placing them on the bar, yells out.

KAYLA
David, where the hell are the olives?

DAVID, 30s (tall, dork and handsome, former military) is up on a ladder, carefully painting a mural on the main wall — a tribute to war veterans. It's about 99% finished.

DAVID
Alphabetical order. Olives are nestled right between Newfoundland Screech and Pickled Eggs. Where they've always belonged.

Kayla instantly finds them.

KAYLA
I'm gone six months and you've got the bar organized like a serial killer's trophy drawer.

FRANK, 30s (East Coaster, fighter not a lover) shuffles past David's mural, not even acknowledging it.

FRANK
We liked it better when Kayla ran the place. Smelled like old mop water and nothing had a place, but somehow, you always found what you needed.

Frank winks at Kayla.

KAYLA
Not the compliment you think it is, Frank.

TAMARA, 50s (red peacoat with matching beret, tired smokey eyes) sits on a bar stool, sipping a martini and squinting at the mural.

TAMARA
Is that a war mural or a vacation ad for the Western Front?

DAVID
It’s a tribute to the veterans who built this Legion.

MOUSE, 20s (small, glasses, resembles a mouse) passes by eating from a sleeve of crackers.

MOUSE
I agree with Tamara, it’s too friendly. Let me ‘war’ it up - make it look more historical.

Mouse puts his hand in red paint. David clenches his jaw.

DAVID
If you so much as breathe on my mural, I will dip you in paint and use you as a human brush.

Mouse shrugs and keeps walking, eating crackers as he goes.

GARY, 60s (think Martin Short), Legion President, enters through the front door, luggage in tow.

GARY (O.S.)
EVERYONE GATHER ‘ROUND! GOT AN ANNOUNCEMENT!

Several members gather as Gary stands on a chair. Mouse places a frosty pint of beer in his hand. Gary sips.

GARY (CONT'D)
As you know, I've just returned from the annual nationwide Meeting of Legion Presidents in the Big City. And wow! Legion 2319 runs a tight ship. Slick. Modern. Soap in the bathrooms...

Tamara and Kayla swoon.

GARY (CONT'D)
...while our Legion is held together by cheap booze, duct tape, and government money.

Frank hoots and hollers. Everyone stares at him.

GARY (CONT'D)
If we don't increase our membership soon, one of those is disappearing — and I doubt it's the duct tape.

The members all give each other a concerned look.

GARY (CONT'D)
And seeing as this is the only job where I can drink while doing it... I need everyone to think of cheap ways we can draw in more members so I can keep it.

David gestures to his painting.

DAVID
Right. Guess this giant mural is just for me then.

GARY
I'm glad you've finally come to terms with that. Anyone else?

FRANK
Reenact historical battles?

TAMARA
How about a French kissing booth?

Mouse applies chapstick and wiggles his eyebrows at her.

TAMARA (CONT'D)
On second thought...

KAYLA
Ooh, how about a juke box, or a pinball machine, or A HOT TUB!

Silence. Then a wave of excitement ripples through the crowd.

DAVID
Absolutely not. Gary, back me up.

GARY
Let's hear her out, David.

Kayla steps forward, pitching it hard.

KAYLA
Picture it: Legion hot tub nights. Socializing. Soaking. A place to unwind. It's basically therapy.

DAVID
Hot tubs cost thousands. We've got $500 in petty cash and wiring from the Cold War.

KAYLA
It's fine. Frank fixed it.

Frank nods just as a wall socket sparks, igniting a bowl of peanuts. Kayla instantly throws a bar towel over it.

MOUSE
Hey, I was eating those.

KAYLA
Mouse, why are your teeth red?

Mouses raises his right, red-paint-covered hand.

KAYLA (CONT'D)
Dad! The people want a hot tub!

DAVID
Kayla, you had a say when you were manager. But now I am. Case closed.
(to Gary)
Give me until tomorrow. I'll come back with a sharp, economical list of ways to grow our membership.

Gary takes a moment to think.

GARY
First thing in the morning.

DAVID
(saluting)
Yes, sir!

GARY
Sweetie, the hot tub was a great idea. Really loved the initiative. I wanna see more of that.
(to the room)
Now if you'll excuse me, I need to go do some laundry.

Gary kisses Kayla gently on her forehead.

Mouse sees this, applies chapstick to his forehead, closes his eyes and leans forward, waiting for a kiss.

Gary leaves. Everyone else disperses.

MOUSE
(singsongy)
I'm waaaaiting.

CUT TO:

OPENING CREDITS.

3 EXT. LEGION HALL - THE NEXT MORNING 3

A few LOCAL PUNKS are rearranging the letters on the marquee. They finish and disperse, leaving behind a new, highly questionable message:

TONIGHT:

A NUDES-ONLY BINGO

A PASSERBY pauses, reads the sign, then slowly walks away, shaking their head.

4 INT. LEGION HALL - MAIN ROOM 4

Kayla is drinking a tallboy while filling a massive hot tub with water.

KAYLA
(to the tune of CAR WASH)
Fillin' up the hot tub.
Fillin' up the hot tub, yeah!

FRANK (O.S)
Laaarhhd tunderin, Jaysus! Where'd this come from?

Kayla chokes on her beer and drops the can in the hot tub.

She ignores it. She turns and sees Frank, Mouse and Tamara standing there, ogling the hot tub.

Tamara caresses the hot tub.

TAMARA
This thing's big enough for a ten person orgy. Eleven if someone's willing to hold their breath.

MOUSE
Didn't Gary say no to hot a tub? Did he have a change of heart?

KAYLA
No, I thought I'd take initiative. Besides I paid for it...

FRANK
That's awfully nice of ya.

KAYLA
...with the petty cash.

Frank whistles.

FRANK
Oh boy, that's greasy.

KAYLA
Don't worry about the money, cause this hot tub is going to bring in more members and therefore more cash.

The trio don't seem convinced.

KAYLA (CONT'D)
Think about all the theme nights, like "Hot Tub Night" and "Spa Night" and "Whirl Pool Night!".

MOUSE
(in awe)
The possibilities are endless.

TAMARA
David is going to be pissed.

KAYLA
Who cares what the fun police thinks!
(MORE)

KAYLA (CONT'D)
Besides, better to ask for forgiveness than to ask for permission.

David enters carrying an easel and other presentation items (ie. Hand puppets, pointing stick, etc.).

KAYLA (CONT'D)
(already prepared)
I'm sorry. Please forgive me.

David drops everything.

5 INT. LEGION HALL - GARY'S OFFICE - LATER 5

David angrily walks back-and-forth in front of Gary's desk, which looks funny since it's a small and overcrowded office.

One wall is covered in headshots signed by D-List Celebrities and one of his shelves is filled with Cabbage Patch Dolls.

Wet clothes are hung-up to dry, with some socks soaking in a coffee pot. A half-drunk glass of red wine sits on his desk.

Empty beer cases form the shape of a loveseat, which Kayla is sitting on.

DAVID
I can't believe you did this.

KAYLA
It was my dad's idea.

DAVID
Gary!

GARY
Kayla, I told you to take more initiative, not 'steal the petty cash and buy a hot tub'.

DAVID
You used the petty cash?! That was supposed to go toward a digital sign, so the neighborhood punks stop turning our marquee into a horny haiku board!

GARY
Not a problem. Kayla will return the hot tub and get the money back.

KAYLA
It is a problem. It was final sale.

GARY
Where'd you buy it from?

KAYLA
Swingers Club.

DAVID
WOW! It keeps getting better. I can see the Legion's new motto now, "Come for the cheap beer, stay for the gonorrhea."

KAYLA
Relax. People clearly wanted a hot tub. Not whatever boring nonsense you came up with.

DAVID
My ideas are not boring!

KAYLA
Let me guess, one of them was a... resume workshop.

David's face drops from smarmy to shocked.

DAVID
(defensive)
Not everyone is good at making one!
(to Kayla)
I come in with structure, safety protocols, measurable outcomes. You show up with charm and chaos, and somehow they treat you like you invented happy hour.

KAYLA
Not my fault everyone loves me.

DAVID
Exactly. Everyone loves you. And I'm just the guy who took your job.

An uncomfortable silence fills the room. Gary sees his opening and perks up.

GARY
You know... David, there might be a role for someone like you.

DAVID
(suspicious)
A role?

GARY
Ah, forget it. You wouldn't be interested. It's kind of niche. A lot of responsibility.

DAVID
What kind of responsibility?

GARY
Well... the hot tub's not gonna regulate itself. We need someone to oversee hygiene, maintenance... maybe even keep a pH log.

KAYLA
You're making that up.

GARY
Not at all. We'd call it... Hot Tub Liaison.

DAVID
Hot Tub Liaison?

GARY
It's dumb. Just something I dreamed up. Requires a clipboard, maybe a whistle... needs someone with real structure...

Gary flashes a subtle grin. Kayla clocks it. David, on the other hand...

DAVID
You know what? That actually sounds like a great idea.
(noticing Kayla)
Unless Kayla has any objections?

KAYLA
Hey, if anyone's gonna take charge of wet, half-naked chaos, it's you.

DAVID
Alright. I accept.

He walks off, already making mental notes. Kayla and Gary share a look.

KAYLA
That was incredible.

GARY
Oh that? That was a gift. Now get me a towel, a bathing suit and a seat next to the jets.

6 EXT. LEGION HALL - LATER 6

The marquee letter sign now reads:

THE LEGION — NOW WITH BUBBLES!

JOIN TODAY & ENJOY OUR NEW HOT TUB

7 INT. LEGION HALL - LATER 7

The hot tub is now up and running, and Mouse, Tamara and Frank are all sitting in it, enjoying some drinks.

FRANK
This is the best I've felt since they banned indoor smoking.
(reading from the manual)
"Press the LIGHTBULB SYMBOL to activate the lights."

He presses the LIGHTBULB button. The machine lights up.

TAMARA/FRANK/MOUSE
Ooooh!

FRANK
"Press the BUBBLES SYMBOL to activate jets."

He does. It begins bubbling.

TAMARA/FRANK/MOUSE
Aaaaah!

FRANK
"Press the MUSIC SYMBOL for music."

He does. It begins playing disco music.

TAMARA/FRANK/MOUSE
Eeeee!

MOUSE
Now it's a party!

Gary approaches holding a bright cocktail in one hand and membership forms in the other. He sips.

GARY
There she is! Our wonderful new member maker.
(to Kayla)
Here are some membership forms.

DAVID (O.S.)
Don't sweat it, Gary. I'm way ahead of you.

REVEAL: David sits at a table near the entrance. Membership forms, pens, laminated hot tub rules & regulations all set up in front of him.

KAYLA
Yeah, it's already a thing.

GARY
Go easy on him. The man's living his dream — forms, rules, authority.
(beat)
David, stay vigilant. If you need me I'll be sending a totally legal email blast to our members... and fifteen-thousand strangers I bought from a guy named Rico.

DAVID
Don't forget to mention my mural.

Gary looks at it.

GARY
Oh, don't worry, David. I'm leading with your mural. The hot tub is just a footnote. In size 72 font.

Gary exits. David turns to Kayla, proud.

KAYLA
Nice clipboard. You running a Legion or a census?

DAVID
This old thing? It's how we separate fun from infection.

Just then, a YOUNG COUPLE, 30s, enters — clearly not Legion regulars. They clock the hot tub... and David's station.

GUY
Hey! We saw the sign outside about the hot tub. This place open to everyone?

DAVID
Welcome to the Legion! Before anyone enters the tub, there's a brief vetting process.

GIRL
Vetting?

DAVID
As in, are you veterans? Of a war?

They glance at Frank and Mouse, in water wings, splashing each other, while Tamara hovers over a jet.

GUY
Are they?

DAVID
Let's just say we're... generously interpreting the term.
(He hands over forms)
Here's your membership form, swimsuit compliance checklist, and a short health survey. Have either of you had diarrhea in the last three weeks?

The couple looks at each other, startled. Kayla steps in.

KAYLA
Ignore "Clipboard Ken". Physicals are optional. Judgment is not.

The young couple walk off towards the hot tub.

KAYLA (CONT'D)
Um... what the hell was that?

DAVID
As Hot Tub Liason I have to make sure every member, old and new, understands the rules and regulations of the hot tub.

Kayla rolls her eyes as David calls attention.

DAVID (CONT'D)
Can I quickly get everyone's attention.
(MORE)

DAVID (CONT'D)
(stepping forward, proud)
For the record – yes, I am officially the Hot Tub Liaison.

FRANK
Lia-what?

Mouse silently mouths "lesbian".

DAVID
Hot Tub Liaison. All things hot tub – temperature, water level, music selection – must go through me. That way, I can guarantee fun.

TAMARA
And if there's one thing you know about... it's fun.

DAVID
Correct.

He steps in front of the hot tub, like he's about to address the United Nations.

DAVID (CONT'D (CONT'D)
A few ground rules so we can keep this thing bubbling: No food in the tub. I found a Twizzler doing laps this morning.

MOUSE
(playing dumb)
Who brought that in?

Mouse pulls a Twizzler from under the water and eats it.

DAVID
No glass. Broken shards and bare feet do not mix. Trust me. And please, for everyone's sake, no jet experimentation. You know who you are.

Tamara silently exits the tub, grabs a towel making direct eye contact with David the entire time.

DAVID (CONT'D)
This is about shared standards. Community respect. Clean water.
(beat)
So... if we follow the rules, we can keep this hot tub dream alive. Together. Who's with me?

He smiles wide. Long silence. A bubble pops.

FRANK
You lost us at “liaison.”

8 EXT. LEGION HALL - LATER 8

The Local Punks are back at the marquee letter box. It now reads:

BUBBLES & BOOTY

ENJOY HOT WET BUNS

The same PASSERBY reads the sign and shakes their head.

9 INT. LEGION HALL - LATER 9

The Legion is bustling. People in wet bathing suits stand around chatting. Wet towels hang over chairs. Large puddles of water are beginning to form in every corner of the room.

Frank chats up THREE OLDER VETS near the bar.

FRANK
From there I went to Qatar, then back to Fallujah for my third tour.

OLDER VET 1
Three tours? That’s more than most of us. Sincerely, thank you for your service.

FRANK
Oh, I never served. Just a guy who takes terrible vacations.

Kayla then walks by giving a tour to NEW MEMBERS.

KAYLA
This is where we keep some of our historic Legion medals and-

MEMBER 1
Cool, cool. So what’s the deal with the hot tub?

KAYLA
Well, it’s our new pride and joy.

She points to the hot tub. David sits next to it with a tally counter, keeping track of how many members are in the tub.

MEMBER 2
And it's open all the time?

KAYLA
For members, absolutely. Ready to sign up?

The two new members take clip boards and begin filling out membership forms when David blows his whistle.

DAVID
EVERYONE OUT OF THE HOT TUB!

The potential members stop filling out their forms.

DAVID (CONT'D)
Bacteria levels are getting a little too high. This is your reminder to use the provided shower before entering the hot tub.

David points to a bucket while staring down an OILY MAN.

The two new members look at each other.

MEMBER 1
What's his deal?

KAYLA
That's David. He's our Hot Tub Liaison-slash-human Brita filter.

She ushers the new members aside and walks up to David, who's measuring chlorine with the focus of a man defusing a bomb.

KAYLA (CONT'D)
Can you maybe dial it down a notch? You're scaring the fresh meat.

DAVID
I hear you. I do. I'm just... excited to finally have a role people respect.
(beat)
I promise I'll tone it down.

He immediately blows his whistle again.

DAVID (CONT'D)
Sir! Step away from the hot tub. That falafel is extremely loaded.

FALAFEL MAN looks down at his dripping, overstuffed wrap.

(MORE)

DAVID (CONT'D)
Chickpeas. Tzatziki. Lettuce shrapnel. One rogue tomato and the whole filter system goes down. Two-hour time-out.

Falafel Man backs away. The new members pause mid-signature.

KAYLA
It's all part of the charm.

10 INT. LEGION HALL - GARY'S OFFICE 10

Kayla bursts into Gary's office. He's wearing only a long dress shirt, one leg propped on the desk, a razor in one hand, shaving cream in the other — and a half-drunk glass of white wine nearby. He's tipsy.

KAYLA
Dad, you've got to do something. David is turning this place into a waterpark boot camp. He made Frank fill out a diarrhea log.

GARY
What'd it say?

KAYLA
That's not the point!

GARY
Kayla...

KAYLA
Why can't you just fire him and make me manager again?

GARY
Because I don't know if you'd stay.

KAYLA
What? Of course I would.

GARY
Last time you had the job, you left to "find yourself."

KAYLA
It wasn't like that.

GARY
You moved into a yurt for a year because some hippy on mushrooms said you radiated "pioneer energy".

KAYLA
He was very convincing! And I did find myself.

GARY
You found yourself back here. Which is fine. I love having you back. But I need consistency. David might be a wet sock, but he shows up. He means well. And honestly? You two aren't that different.

KAYLA
Okay, ouch.

GARY
If you want to be in charge again, earn it. Don't just ask for the keys to the place because it used to be yours.

KAYLA
So what, I just... wait for him to screw up?

GARY
Or work with him. David is actually a pretty great guy.
(beat)
Now. Get the hell out of my office. I need to clean up my bikini zone.

Kayla storms out.

11 INT. LEGION HALL - LATER 11

Kayla swings back behind the bar, where an unruly crowd is waiting for drinks. As she takes orders, she notices Mouse sitting at the bar. Fully clothed.

KAYLA
Mouse! Why aren't you in the tub?

MOUSE
David said my fingers were "too prune-adjacent". Says I'm not allowed back in until the creases are less than 2cm in depth.

KAYLA
He's losing his damn mind.

David walks about handing out YELLOW CARDS.

He approaches a BAND-AID WOMAN.

DAVID
No open wounds in the Hot Tub.
Yellow Card.

David then approaches a LONG BATHING SUIT MAN. He takes out his measuring tape and measures the length of his suit.

DAVID (CONT'D)
Bathing suit is one inch too long.
You wanna get sucked into the filter? RED CARD!

Several OLD MEN surround Tamara, each holding a drink – not for themselves, but for her. One even balances a lobster tail on a cocktail napkin like a sacred offering.

TAMARA
This takes me back to my days as Daryl Hannah's Splash! body double.

David steps up next to the hot tub and blows a whistle.

DAVID
Gentlemen, you are in violation of the no glass/no food rule. That'll be a 1 hour time out for each of you. Go on. Get out. Shoo.

The sopping Old Men get out of the tub and shuffle away.

DAVID (CONT'D)
Should be ashamed of yourselves.

David blows his whistle again and Frank, wearing bikini brief swimwear and flip flops, enters with a mop and bucket.

FRANK
How long am I on mop duty?

DAVID
Until you understand the hot tub isn't your personal sound-and-light board. This isn't the Sphere. It's a Legion. Now mop!

As Frank begins to mop, Kayla confronts David.

KAYLA
That's enough!

Everyone in the Legion stops and looks at Kayla.

KAYLA (CONT'D)
Do you even hear yourself anymore? You've turned this place into a boot camp with bubbles!

DAVID
I'm just trying to maintain basic hygiene standards.

KAYLA
This is a Legion. It barely passed inspection when it only served darts and cheap beer. No one came here for your spa protocols.

DAVID
I thought you wanted this place to grow. I thought we were trying to bring in new members...?

KAYLA
Yeah, with fun. With charm. Not clipboard tyranny and swimsuit inspections!

David tries to hold his ground, but his voice tightens.

DAVID
I thought... I was doing something good. You all needed help, and I thought I was finally helping.

Beat. Kayla softens, just slightly — but not enough.

KAYLA
We gave you this job to keep you busy. Not to make everyone miserable.

That lands. David's face falls. He quietly sets down his clipboard. His whistle. His precious tally counter.

DAVID
Got it.
(beat)
Good luck with the tub.

He turns and walks out. A beat of silence — then the entire Legion erupts in cheers.

TAMARA Finally!

Kayla watches David storm out of the Legion.

KAYLA
(to herself)
Oh no. What have I done?

12 INT. LEGION HALL - LATER 12

The Legion has gone full chaos.

Steam fogs the windows. Ceiling tiles drip. Towels hang like laundry from the light fixtures. Wet socks cling to the dartboard. Someone's walker is parked in the middle of the dance floor, covered in flashing Christmas lights.

It's less a veterans' club, more biker bar for people with bad hips.

Kayla is tending bar and barely able to keep up, when Tamara approaches. Her hair is green. Kayla is alarmed.

KAYLA
Tamara! Your hair is green.

TAMARA
Isn't it wonderful? I feel like a sexy mermaid!

Frank approaches. Eyes blazing red.

FRANK
Mayhaps too much chlorine?

KAYLA
I honestly have no clue. Never had a hot tub before. As annoying as David was, the water never got... violent.

MOUSE
Tell me about it. My fingertips went from being prune-y to non-existent.

Mouse holds his hands up.

MOUSE (CONT'D)
See. No fingerprints!

Kayla grabs his hand.

KAYLA
That's awful.

MOUSE
Not to me. Brings me one step closer to my dream of becoming a legendary bank robber.

FRANK
Right on, little buddy!

Frank goes to give Mouse a high-five but misses on account of his eyes being swollen shut.

KAYLA
Mouse, can you put more water in the hot tub and dilute the chlorine? I'm slammed.

MOUSE
I would but it hurts to touch things.

KAYLA
Tamara?

TAMARA
And go back to my normal hair colour?! No way. I've never gotten so many free drinks in my life.

KAYLA
Frank?

FRANK
Point me in the direction of the hose'n'bucket, and give me a shove.

Kayla does and Frank is off, feeling his way around. He puts his hands on a GRIZZLED OLD MAN'S face.

FRANK (CONT'D)
Terry! Nice seeing you again! I thought you were dead.

KAYLA
This is getting out of control.

Kayla sees the backside of a NUDE MAN standing triumphantly in the hot tub, twirling his bathing suit over his head.

KAYLA (CONT'D)
SIR! Put your bathing suit back on!

She storms toward him, towel in hand, only to realize it's...

KAYLA (CONT'D)
Dad?!

GARY
Sweetheart! This hot tub is a hit!

He drunkenly slaps the water, then takes a swig from a bottle of whiskey.

GARY (CONT'D)
EVERYONE! I need your attention!
(beat)
This is the kind of night this place was built for! And I'm happy to announce we have just crossed our membership goal line. And it's all thanks to my genius daughter!

The crowd cheers. Kayla forces a wave, then grabs his arm and yanks him out of the tub.

KAYLA
I could really use your help calming things down. You being naked isn't helping.

GARY
Where's David?

KAYLA
Gone. I may have... told him the truth. That we only gave him the Hot Tub Liaison title to keep him busy.

GARY
Ah, brilliant. Kick the guard dog and wonder why the wolves show up.

KAYLA
What does that even mean?

GARY
No idea. Something my grandfather used to say. Usually after a bottle of Irish Whiskey.

Kayla exhales hard.

KAYLA
He was keeping things under control. And now it's...
(gesturing)
This. I can't fix this.

GARY
So go apologize.

KAYLA
Just like that?

GARY
Sometimes the fix is just admitting you screwed up.

KAYLA
Thanks, Dad.

She gives her father a kiss on the cheek.

KAYLA (CONT'D)
Ew. I can't believe I did that while you're naked.

David enters the Legion, doggy-bag of food in hand.

KAYLA (CONT'D)
Thank god you're back. I could really use your help.

DAVID
Your hot tub. Your problem.

David walks past her and out of sight.

BACK AT THE HOT TUB Frank sets down his bucket of water next to a pail of chlorine tablets, then shakes out his hand.

FRANK
Simmer down, would ya? Yer stronger smellin' than Nanny's chowder.

He then accidentally picks up the pail filled with chlorine tablets and dumps it in the hot tub.

The water bubbles aggressively, sending thick clouds of steam up, onto the ceiling tiles above. The tiles instantly begin to droop. Frank gives a concerned look.

FRANK (CONT'D)
That can't be good. Um... Kayla...

KAYLA
What's up?

Frank points to the sagging tiles above.

KAYLA (CONT'D)
Why does that make me think of Tamara?
(beat)
Open a window?

FRANK
Can't. Gary had me nail them shut after raccoons broke in and played dress-up with his dolls.

KAYLA
Oh, uh, plug in the dehumidifier.

FRANK
The Beast?! That thing uses more power in an hour than the arena does all day. Sure you want it AND the hot tub running simultaneously?

KAYLA
You updated the electrical.

FRANK
Updated? Sure. Safe? That's more of a vibe check than a guarantee.

KAYLA
The Beast is in my dad's office. Get it and PLUG IT IN.

Frank slowly - and blindly - heads towards Gary's office.

Kayla stands proud. She's making it work!

KAYLA (CONT'D)
I totally got this.

Just then, Mouse emerges from the bathroom gagging.

KAYLA (CONT'D)
What's wrong?

MOUSE
The bathroom. Overflowing. Too many people. Can't handle the action.

KAYLA
Ew.

TAMARA (O.S)
Kayla, can you clean this for us?

KAYLA
Clean wha- OH GOD! What is that?

Tamara holds what looks like a brick of slimy-hair in front of Kayla's face.

TAMARA
Hot tub filter. Think it's clogged.

Then, in quick succession, a MEMBER slips on a puddle and falls down, an OLD BOOMBOX falls to the ground and begins playing the same ANNOYING SONG LOOP over and over, and Gary christens the hot tub with a large glass bottle of champagne.

KAYLA
I don't got this. DAAAAAAVID!

Kayla goes to find David.

13 EXT. LEGION HALL - LATER 13

Green steam leaks from the front entrance. Water drips down the inside of the fogged-up windows. Music blares from inside, and disco lights flash through the glass.

Is this a Legion or a 90s rave?

14 INT. LEGION HALL - SUPPLY CLOSET 14

It's quiet. Dimly lit. Smells like old mop water and Pinesol.

Kayla enters and sees David sitting on a crate, chewing silently. A half-eaten falafel in his hand.

KAYLA Falafel?

DAVID
What can I say? Guy made it look good.

KAYLA
Smells good. Not like the rest of this place.

DAVID
(sarcastically)
Oh the chlorine? Barely noticed it.

She closes the door and sits across from him.

KAYLA
I owe you an apology. A big one.

David raises an eyebrow, still silent.

KAYLA (CONT'D)
You were right. You were helping. The only reason things didn't fall apart sooner is because you were keeping us all from drowning. Literally.

DAVID
It's fine.

KAYLA
No. It's not. You were the voice of reason and I just kept hitting mute.

DAVID
I just wanted to be useful.
(beat)
I don't drink. I don't joke like the rest of you. I sure as hell don't get the Legion's obsession with meat raffles. But I thought maybe I could organize the chaos. Give it some shape.

KAYLA
Because that's how you connect. Through structure.

DAVID
Exactly. And then you told me it was all just busywork. Something to keep me out of the way.

He finally looks at her. That hurt is still there.

KAYLA
Because it's hard not being in charge. I'm not good at sharing. And the truth is, the Legion feels like mine. But tonight proves I can't run it alone. Not anymore.

KAYLA (CONT'D)
I need your help. Please. Come back. Bring the whistle. Bring the clipboard. Hell, bring the tally counter.

DAVID
You're not just asking me to help because Gary is out there naked?

KAYLA
...No.
(beat)
But also, yes.

They share a laugh. David stands, brushes off his pants.

DAVID
I actually liked being Hot Tub Liaison. Even if I did treat it like a NATO command post.

KAYLA
Yeah, well, maybe next time dial it down to mall cop.
(beat)
Brace yourself.

DAVID
Always do.

He nods and opens the door.

Steam and chaos leak in immediately. They cover their mouths with their arms and run out.

15 INT. LEGION HALL - CONTINUOUS 15

David and Kayla enter back into the main room, wincing at the chlorine that hangs in the air.

KAYLA
What do we do?

DAVID
First-things-first.

David yanks the hot tub plug out of the wall. Nothing happens.

KAYLA
Well that did nothing.

DAVID
The air is already too thick with chlorinated steam.

KAYLA
Oh! I asked Frank to plug in the Beast.

They scan the room, but can't see him through the steam. They do see the patrons are becoming weak.

DAVID
I'll find Frank and we'll get it plugged in. You get everyone out.
(then)
FULL LEGION EVACUATION. NOW!

The patrons stop and look confused.

KAYLA
He means get the f out!

Everyone begins to panic and run in every direction.

Like two soldiers, Kayla and David break off on their own mission.

Kayla pushes through the thick, chlorine-heavy steam and foam, coughing as she waves people toward the exit.

Through the haze, Gary - completely nude - army crawls across the floor, barking orders to no one in particular.

GARY
(grunting)
Cover me! I'm going low!

Kayla's face contorts in horror and shields her eyes.

KAYLA
Dad! WHY?!

Before she can recover, six OLD MEN - half-drunk, all determined - carry Tamara out in a makeshift fireman's lift.

Her hair is now a deep, vibrant green.

TAMARA
(singing and grinning ear-to-ear)
I want to be where the people are!

Kayla stumbles forward, scanning for stragglers, until she spots Mouse behind the bar, blowing on his fingers while attempting to open the safe.

KAYLA
Mouse! What are you doing?

MOUSE
Nothing!
(offers her licorice)
Twizzler?

She pushes him in the direction of the door and begins to call out for stragglers.

David finds Frank who has been blindly trying to plug in the Beast. His eyes are blazing red and nearly swollen shut.

DAVID
Frank! Your eyeballs look like they've been marinating in hot sauce.

FRANK
Nothing I'm not used to. I get pink eye at least once a month. Not cause I'm filthy, but cause my dog naps with his butthole on my pillow.

DAVID
Hand me the plug.

Frank does and David plugs it in. The lights above begin to flicker, but the power holds as the Beast begins to work.

DAVID (CONT'D)
Let's get you outta here!

He ducks under Frank's arm and starts moving toward the exit.

Meanwhile, Kayla is trying to make sure the club is clear.

KAYLA
Hello? Is anyone else in here?

Kayla begins to cough more and more.

KAYLA (CONT'D)
Oh god. Where's the freaking door?

David hands Frank off to Mouse and Tamara and then spots Kayla through the fog.

He then notices the ceiling tiles above her are ready to explode with moisture.

DAVID
KAYLA! LOOKOUT!

In slow motion, David runs towards Kayla, avoiding items that mimic items used on D-Day: overturned tables acting as Czech Hedgehogs, an old popcorn machine popping like a machine gun.

As a tub worth of debris and water begins to fall, David dives, pushing Kayla out of the way and onto the ground.

KAYLA
You saved me. Thank you.

With the front door wide-open and the Beast running, the air clears. David and Kayla take in the damage: everything in the Legion is ruined. Well, everything but David's mural

KAYLA (CONT'D)
At least your mural is okay.

Just then, the Beast sparks, setting David's mural on fire.

KAYLA (CONT'D)
I'm just gonna shut up now.

16 INT. LEGION HALL - THE NEXT MORNING 16

Sunlight spills through the open doors. The room is quiet. Soaked, but peaceful.

Wet towels hang like surrender flags. The hot tub is unplugged. The Beast hums, barely keeping it all together.

Kayla, mopping, pauses to take in the wreckage. She sighs.

Tamara, Mouse, and Frank enter armed with brooms, garbage bins and other cleaning supplies.

FRANK
We figured the least we could do was help clean up.

TAMARA
And I brought mimosas. For morale.

KAYLA
Wow. Thanks, guys.

David enters, carrying a tray of coffees. He clocks the cleanup crew.

DAVID
What's this? A volunteer task force?

KAYLA
Turns out if you help wreck a place, people feel bad enough to help fix it.

He hands her a coffee.

DAVID
Thought you could use a pick me up.

KAYLA
Thanks, and thank you for helping me last night. I honestly could not have done it without you.
(beat)
We actually make a good team. In a chaos-meets-clipboard kind of way.

DAVID
Let's just aim for slightly less chaos next time.

KAYLA
Deal.

They sip. A rare calm.

KAYLA (CONT'D)
Honestly, I thought you were going to kill me.

David sips his coffee, then smirks.

DAVID
Kill you? No. Fire you... maybe.

KAYLA
Fair.

Enter Gary: sunglasses on, shirt untucked, gatorade in hand.

GARY
Alright, team! Since every new vet member cancelled their membership — hear me out: goats.

Everyone groans.

GARY (CONT'D)
I know a guy. Runs an animal farm. Majestic creatures. Very trendy right now. Goat yoga, goat cuddles, goat races — sky's the limit!

MOUSE
Do they bite?

GARY
Only if you're rude.

DAVID
No goats. No mammals with horns. That's my line.

GARY
You haven't even met Daniel. Very polite. Very spiritual.

KAYLA
Daniel's outside?

17 EXT. LEGION HALL - SAME 17

A goat stands tied to the Legion's marquee, chewing on the a marquee letter 'J'.

The marquee sign reads:

OIN THE LEGION TODAY!
PLEASE. WE BEG YOU.

From inside:

EVERYONE (O.S.)
NO GOATS, GARY!

END OF EPISODE.